Go on a Where's Waldo hunt

If you could organize a game of find Waldo, the first person to find Waldo’s hiding place is the winner. And after a count of three, let the search begin! If you want to make it into a competition, let the first person to find Waldo’s picture in a room win. Everyone loves musical chairs, duck, duck goose, and pin the tail on the donkey—so why not give these traditional party games a Where’s Waldo twist? Play by drawing a outline of Waldo’s Bust, a picture of Waldo on the back of a game, and put it on a wall. Then, on a separate piece of paper, draw Waldo’s glasses, and cut them out (children will need adult supervision). Waldo’s the winner! Everyone loves musical chairs, duck, duck goose, and pin the tail on the donkey—so why not give these traditional party games a Where’s Waldo twist?

A Wordathon

Waldo, Wenda, Woof, Wizard Whitebeard... Waldo’s world is built around the letter W. Using a timer or stopwatch, give each competitor a set time limit (thirty or sixty seconds will do). The aim is to think of as many different words beginning with W as possible in the given time—so why not give these traditional party games a Where’s Waldo twist? Play by drawing a outline of Waldo’s Bust, a picture of Waldo on the back of a game, and put it on a wall. Then, on a separate piece of paper, draw Waldo’s glasses, and cut them out (children will need adult supervision). Waldo’s the winner! Everyone loves musical chairs, duck, duck goose, and pin the tail on the donkey—so why not give these traditional party games a Where’s Waldo twist?
